

Part No. ALL80250

Water Pressure Warning Kit

Warning kit senses pressure in the cooling system and alerts the driver of a problem when coolant pressure drops below 4psi. In the event of coolant loss (i.e. blown radiator hose), the temperature gauge probe is no longer surrounded by coolant which senses the engine temperature, this will lead to a false temperature gauge reading and major engine damage.

REV062613

Shop the largest selection of automotive electrical parts in our online store.