THE NOTCHEAD STORY

THE NOTCHEAD STORY

The company was started by Divers Street Rods, Inc. after they built the "Ferrambo" - the winner of the 2008 Ridler Award at the Detroit Autorama. Revolutionary new fasteners were all over this historic vehicle and they drew a lot of attention. After encouragement from one of our customers, we started producing them for the public.

NotchHead was born and we had our debut at SEMA 2012 down in Las Vegas, NV to show off our new products: a unique bolt design and a hand-held tool for gripping machine screws while you polish them. It is important to us to make the best quality products for our customers. That is why we manufacture most of our products in-house, in a small city located about an hour northeast of Seattle.

In recognition of outstanding achievement and new product design and innovation

NOTCHEAD FASTENERS

NOTCHEAD FASTENERS A new solution to an old problem

When Allen Manufacturing company innovated the hex key fasteners in 1910, people had to wonder "why," as conventional bolts seemed good enough. So it was when Henry Phillips' self-centering screws and screwdrivers augmented blades. Yet change is good, and 100 years later, DSR Fasteners' "NotchHead" have advanced the past. Conceived and manufactured by Ridler Award-winning Divers Street Rods, Inc. in Sultan, Washington, these powerful fasteners provide a secure grip under heavy load's while lending a special appeal for those reaching beyond old-school nuts and machine screws.

Manufactured out of high grade stainless steel or titanium, NotchHead Fasteners are revolutionary new fasteners designed to dress up whatever project you're working on in your shop. The unique seven-notched design of NotchHead Fasteners, along with NotchHead's custom engineered socket, virtually eliminates the occurrence of "rounded" off bolt heads, a common and frustrating problem that happens with traditional button heads.

- For any project! Available in an assortment of sizes.
- Fully machined out of Stainless Steel or Titanium for a strong bolt and beautiful appearance.
- Provides added security due to its unique design requiring NotchHead's proprietary socket.

NOTCHEAD PIN DRIVE SOCKETS

The new NotchHead Pin Drive Socket is designed specifically for NotchHead Fasteners and can be used with both SAE and metric sizes. The narrow pin drive socket allows fasteners to be used in certain counterbores. CNC machined from 416 stainless and feature a standard 1/4" drive, along with a SAE corresponding wrench size hex.

- Part #8716 #2 fits 1/4" SAE and M6
- Part #8816 #3 fits 5/16" SAE and M8
- Part #8916 #4 fits 3/8" SAE and M10

NOTCHEAD SHOP GRIP

THE SHOP GRIP

Part #5000

Necessity breeds invention... and the hours of polishing required to build a top-tier show car and the mangled fingers and mess that comes with the territory prompted "The Shop Grip", an amazingly simple tool with soft aluminum jaws that quickly grips the threads of a bolt so that the head of it can be polished 360 degrees without damage. The tool will also safely hold small brackets for polishing as well. Never handle a hot bolt again!
